Who?

The Greater Washington Region Clean Cities Coalition (GWRCCC) is a Washington, D.C.- based nonprofit organization. GWRCCC was among the first of over 100 Clean Cities Coalitions established in the United States. For 32 years, GWRCC has worked locally to advance sustainable, affordable, domestic transportation fuels to help reduce our nation's dependence on foreign oil. Our goal is to help the public learn how to take steps to improve personal security and the economic, energy, environmental, and national security of the United States. Find out more about what you can do and how you can help at <https://gwrccc.org>.

Why?

EarthDay.org's theme for Earth Day 2026, 'Our Power, Our Planet,' emphasizes the importance of expanding the use of renewable energy sources to help protect our planet.

Increasing the supply of domestically produced cleaner fuels reduces oil imports and increases fuel supplies to help lower consumer prices. Sustainable transportation fuels improve the United States' economic, energy, environmental, and national security.

Walk with us to show your support for the laws, industries, and organizations that help increase the production and use of cleaner-burning, lower-carbon, domestically produced renewable fuels and other sustainable transportation technologies.

Why Not?

- ❑ Decreasing billions of tons of toxic and harmful air pollution reduces the cost of health care and property damage.
- ❑ Increasing the supply of clean fuels lowers fuel prices and creates new jobs that generate tax revenues needed to reduce the deficit and prevent tax increases.
- ❑ Accelerating technologies that produce cleaner, renewable, domestically produced fuels can help support geopolitical stability and save lives.
